

NEW WORLD GENERATION INC.

April 28, 2015

Dear Shareholder,

The month of April has focused on engineering work with SNC Lavalin. As noted in the March letter, SNC is busy putting together the final components and are working in tandem with a turbine design house out of Vermont.

NWG has begun working to secure a partner for ongoing development and commercialization. One company has begun due diligence on the technology and will be meeting with NWG and a representative of SNC as early as next week.

NWG has also approached corporate council to ensure that the best interests of the shareholders are represented through coming negotiations. An update will be provided on this matter by the end of May.

With regards,
