

NEW WORLD GENERATION INC.

May 31, 2015

Dear Shareholder,

The initial phase of work with SNC Lavalin is now completed. The newly received report identifies a market for the modified NWG energy storage system.

NWG has begun speaking with third parties; one company recently visited has agreed to network NWG with some larger industry players to source a pilot project for final proof of concept and in addition interested parties for partnership and/or sale of the technology.

In anticipation of this interest, the NWG board has also approved appointing three external directors. The Board feels that external directors are required to put into perspective the value and potential of the technology. In addition, external directors can give an unbiased perspective in future negotiations. While this process has just begun, NWG will be sure to notify shareholders of any new additions to the team.

Regards,

A handwritten signature in blue ink, appearing to read 'Peter Routliff', is written over a faint, larger version of the same signature.

Peter Routliff, NWG Chair